LEAVES TO JOIN THE GREEK ARMY

Gust Varelas, the Gettysburg Candy Kitchen Proprietor, Summoned Home to Join the Greek Army. Will Sail this Coming Saturday.

Gust. Varelas, for almost three years proprietor of the Gettysburg Candy Kitchen, on Chambersburg street, has sold out his business to J. H. Kadel, wholesale candy manufacturer, of Hanover, and will leave on Wednesday for his native home in Greece where he will join the Greek army. He expects to serve an enlistment of probably six months and hopes to return to Gettysburg upon the completion of that time.

Mr. Varelas, or "Gus" as he is known generally in Gettysburg, is going back to the home-land as the result of a call from the Greek government to all its sons living in the United States to return and join the army. The call is to all young men of that nationality between the ages of 21 and 36 and the local candy manufacturer is within this limit.

Failure to answer the call of the Greek government is a very serious thing. Should Mr. Varelas not appear in New York on Saturday to sail with hundreds of his countrymen he would forfeit his citizenship as a Greek, would give up his claim to his parental inheritance and, should he ever return to his native country afterward, would be liable to undergo an imprisonment of five years. In case the war ends within the next six months he may secure his release from further service by payment of a sum of $300 but, if the war should not cease, he will have to see active service. The other Greeks living in Gettysburg are not affected by the call which Mr. Varelas must answer as they are from the island of Mitelene which is now under Turkish control.

"Gus" has conducted the candy kitchen next door to the Eagle Hotel since May 1910 and has built up quite an extensive local trade while his place has always been well patronized by tourists. Before coming to Gettysburg he lived in Waynesboro where he was engaged in the same sort of business, his entire stay in the United States covering a period of about nine years. As he was eighteen when he left home he is now twenty seven.

In leaving Gettysburg Mr. Varelas expresses the hope and the belief that he will return before very long. He says:

"It is not likely that we will be required for actual service in the war for I think that will be at an end before very long. My enlistment will be for about six months, I think, and I hope to return at the end of that time. There were 75,000 Greeks subject to the call and of these 25,000 have already returned. I expect my trip to take about two weeks. I have my mother, two brothers and a sister, living in Greece whom I have not seen for many years, and I also have one brother still living in this country. My father is dead."

"Gus" has made a number of friends during his stay here and he leaves with the well wishes of many who hope that he may return before another year has passed.

MONUMENT TO GEN. WADSWORTH

Bronze Statue of Gallant Union Officer to be Erected on First Day's Field Early this Year. Story of his Work here.

Representing him on the battlefield where, with the New York brigade, he withstood the first attack of the Confederates at Gettysburg on July 1, 1863, Mr. R. Hinton Perry, the sculptor, has just completed the model for a statue of General James S. Wadsworth, which will be erected next spring on the battlefield, at the exact spot where he stood directing his troops. The work was done at the direction of the New York State Monument Commission. The movement for the monument was started by the residents of Genesee, N. Y., General Wadsworth's home city, and the statue was authorized by the Legislature two years ago.

General Wadsworth, who was the grandfather of James W. Wadsworth, Jr., candidate for Lieutenant Governor on the Republican ticket last November, was killed in the battle of the Wilderness in 1864, while vainly trying to rally his troops against the Confederates. One monument to his memory already is in existence, in Washington, D. C.

Mr. Perry modelled General Wadsworth as he stood at Gettysburg, with one arm directing the placing of his troops so as to withstand a charge of the Confederates. He was a brigadier general at the time. Half of his command was lost in the first attack, and in the succeeding two days of the battle the remnant of his troops helped to hold the heights at the right. At the time of his death he had just been brevetted a major general, but he never knew of his promotion.

Horace Greeley in his "American Conflict" said of General Wadsworth: "The country's salvation claimed no nobler sacrifice than that of James S. Wadsworth, of New York. No one surrendered more for his country's sake or gave his life more joyfully for her deliverance."

General Wadsworth at the time of his death owned about 15,000 acres of land in the vicinity of Genesee, N. Y.

CAUGHT IN TUNNEL

Workmen at Toland Clay Works Have Harrowing Experience.

On Saturday afternoon, just after a gang of workmen had entered the tunnel at the Still clay works at Toland, near Hunters Run, the timbers supporting the opening at the entrance way fell, closing the opening. The driver returning with the mule found the timbers fallen in and exit impossible. All hands were put to work at opening the tunnel again, and it was four o'clock before the work was accomplished and the imprisoned men extricated. No one was injured although it was a trying experience and all were glad to see the sunlight again.

DIES DURING FIRE

Fire of an unknown origin, early Sunday morning, destroyed the general store and dwelling of William Black, near Thurmont, along the Western Maryland Railroad.

The occupants of the house were awakened with difficulty and escaped from the burning building in their night clothing. The fire started in the warehouse adjoining the store and dwelling and made such rapid headway that nothing could be saved. J. P. Black, for many years postmaster of the town, was overcome with excitement and was stricken with heart trouble and died.

Much other property adjoining the fire was saved by the bucket brigade. Mr. Black was badly burned about the hands trying to save some household effects, all of which are a total loss. The property was one of the old landmarks in that section. The loss is estimated at $5000.

A. Miller that they could beat the Millers on a walk to New York. The stakes were $500, which the Fisons say they have won, making the trip in 89 days. The Millers, who took a different route, have not yet appeared. The Fisons said their hike was a honeymoon trip. Mrs. Fison is only 18 years old.

MULES RAN AWAY

York Springs People Have an Unpleasant Experience.

While T. C. Gardner and wife, of near York Springs, were marketing in Mount Holly Springs recently their mules, hitched at a store, took fright at something and tore loose. The animals ran off, and came in contact with an electric light pole. One mule was on the pavement and the other on the other side of the pole in the gutter; they broke the yoke and the wagon and scattered the parts over the street. They ran at a wild rate for some distance before they were caught.

On the tenth article of impeachment Judge Archbald was again held not guilty by a vote of 1 to 65. This accused him of accepting a trip to Europe from Henry W. Cannon, a railroad director, who is a cousin of Mr. Archbald.

A vote of 11 to 51 on the eleventh article resulted in another verdict of not guilty. This article charged Judge Archbald with accepting a purse raised among attorneys practicing in his court.

Judge Archbald was acquitted on the twelfth charge, that he was guilty of misbehavior in having appointed a railroad attorney jury commissioner in Pennsylvania. The vote was 19 to 46.

The vote on the thirteenth and last article, which charged Judge Archbald generally with seeking credit from litigants before him and engaging in a general coal land business, caused some delay. Some senators wished to be excused from voting because of its generalities. A debate followed. The vote was finally reached, and it resulted 42 to 20 for Archbald's conviction.

GREAT BRITAIN TAKES OVER TELEPHONES

Arbitrators Award the Company $62,576,320.

London, Jan. 14.—The British government is to pay to the National Telephone Company of the United Kingdom the sum of $62,576,320 for its property, according to a decision reached by the railway and canal commission, sitting as a court of arbitration.

The whole of the telephone system in the British Isles went into the hands of the state on Jan. 1, 1912. The National Telephone Company originally asked $105,000,000 for its interests, but during the severity-three-day trial just ended this claim was reduced by many millions.

It had been expected by stock exchange experts, however, that the company would receive from $80,000,000 to $90,000,000. The stock of the company immediately upon announcement of the award fell from 141 to 109.

The arbitration has been one of the most important in the history of the country. During the trial the parties came to an agreement as to the cost of the plant, the sum being $51,568,825.

FALL ASLEEP AT WORK

Barbers Overcome by Gas While Shaving Patrons.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Jan. 14.—Albert Grey and Charles Webb, barbers, were at work over patrons in the chairs of their shop at Kingston and both were put to sleep by gas which escaped from a small stove in the rear of their shop. Neither of the patrons was affected.

While the men in the chairs waited for the barbers to finish their work they were surprised to see both of them showing signs of drowsiness. In another minute the barbers fell to the floor. The patrons then called a doctor and he removed them to fresh air in time to save their lives.

Washington, Jan. 14.—The validity of the Chicago ordinance fixing the size of loaves of bread was upheld by the United States supreme court in the case of Mathias Schmiedinger, a baker, sued by the city for $100 as a penalty for violating it. It was claimed in opposition to the ordinance that it deprived persons of the privilege of buying large sized loaves.

GREY WARNS AGAINST WAR

Ambassadors Confer With Daneff and Rechad Pasha.

TURKISH CABINET TO RESIGN

Peace Note to Constantinople Has Been Prepared and Will Be Presented at Once.

London, Jan. 14.—Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary, and the ambassadors of the powers are making valiant efforts to bring about a settlement between Turkey and the Balkan allies in the direction of peace.

They have had additional interviews with Dr. Daneff and Rechad Pasha, heads of the Bulgarian and Turkish delegations respectively, advising moderation on both sides and warning them that either party, if through obstinacy it should plunge Europe into war again, would incur a heavy weight of disapproval.

The meeting of the ambassadors was the lengthiest yet held. They discussed the note to be presented to the Porte passage by passage, aiming to meet every possible argument likely to be raised by the Turks.

It was decided that the peace note will be presented at once. The note was adopted unanimously. What the ultimate result will be is anxiously awaited in London.

The general impression among the plenipotentiaries is that the definite decision on war or peace must come from Constantinople. Whatever concessions the Balkan league may make the allies will never consent to the renunciation of Adrianople, which the Turks make the sine qua non of peace.

Much is hoped for here from Kiamil Pasha, the grand vizier, a man of great ability and extraordinary influence. He is perhaps the most powerful among the Ottoman statesmen. He has succeeded in restoring the good relations between Turkey and the Triple Entente, and thus far has been able to prevent the powers from taking an active anti-Turkish attitude.

A dispatch from the Turkish capital states that the newspaper Tasfir-i Eklar announces the decision of the entire Turkish cabinet to resign. This is believed to indicate the predominance of the influence of the war party, who may, in the event of such a move, control future movements.

While progress toward peace is at a standstill, the Balkan delegations are endeavoring to obtain advantages for themselves in the partition of the conquered territory. The kings of Bulgaria, Greece and Montenegro are working actively among their relatives and friends on the other thrones of Europe to influence the powers in favor of the claims of their countries. As the moment for a decision approaches their efforts become more strenuous. It is known that they have sent special envoys to some of the capitals to support the work of their regular diplomats.

ELECT U. S. SENATOR

Massachusetts Republicans Name Weeks to Succeed Crane.

Boston, Jan. 14.—Congressman John W. Weeks, of Newton, was nominated for United States senator on the thirty-first ballot in the Republican legislative caucus over Congressman Samuel W. McCall.

The vote was: Weeks, 97; McCall, 57; Guild, 5; Lawrence, 1; Luce, 1. The nomination broke the deadlock which had existed for four days.

New York Traction's Tolls Heavy.

Albany, N. Thirty thousand passengers were injured and nearly 7000 employees. July was the worst month, with 6550 accidents.

The Stork.
As a rule storks live in marshes and feed on reptiles, frogs and their spawn as well as on fishes and young birds. They are in all the old countries, where they live a privileged race on account of their usefulness and of the havoc they make among the noxious animals. Their migration takes place in great flocks. They are easily tamed.
Of these birds the common or white stork of Europe is probably the best known. This species is from long habit very tame, approaching the dwellings of man without fear.
In the continental towns tame storks, which have been taken from the nest when young, may be often seen about the markets, where they are recognized as scavengers, cleaning the place of fish entrails and other offal to their own and the citizens' satisfaction.

Early American Weavers.
In 1640 the court of Massachusetts passed two orders directing the growth of flax, ascertaining what colonists were skillful in breaking, spinning and weaving. Boys and girls were taught to spin and weave and offered a bounty for linen grown, spun and woven in the colony. Connecticut passed similar measures. The industry received a fresh impetus through the immigration of about 100 Irish families from Londonderry. They settled in New Hampshire, on the Merrimack, in about 1719 and spun and wove with far more skill than prevailed among those English settlers who had already become Americans.

WILSON GIVES HINT TO HIS CABINET
Will Have Only "Progressives" Associated With Him.
Trenton, N. J., Jan. 14.—President-elect Wilson proclaimed that "the spirit of the country in the national election demonstrated a unanimity of progressive thought," and announced that he expected to have associated with him in office "only progressives."

He was speaking at a luncheon given to the New Jersey electors by the Democratic state committee. "I shall therefore not be acting as a partisan," he continued, "when I pick out progressives, and only progressives. I shall be acting as a representative of the people."
He added that it was a pleasure to find men's minds and purposes yielding to the great impulse of progressive thought. "I do not foresee any serious division of counsel in the Democratic party," he said. "On the contrary, I see every evidence of solidarity. Men who have hitherto not yielded their judgment to the movement of the age now are everywhere yielding."

LOOTS SAFE AS CROWDS GO BY

Armed Thief Holds Up Ticket Office in Philadelphia.

DARING DAYLIGHT ROBBERY

Awes the Two Clerks With Revolver as He Rifles the Safe and Cash Drawer.

Philadelphia, Jan. 14.—In broad daylight, when traffic on Broad street between Walnut and Chestnut was at its height, and directly in the shadow of the city hall, with several policemen in halting distance, a thief who probably will lead all others in the records of the police of Philadelphia for genuine nerve, entered the ticket office of the Lehigh Valley Railroad company, at 131 South Broad street, and at the point of a big revolver forced the two clerks who were in charge of the office to surrender the contents of the safe and money drawer, aggregating about $130.

According to the two clerks, it took the man not more than ten minutes to make a complete canvass of the office and get away. The two men who were in the office at the time of the hold-up were Alfred D. Hunsicker, the passenger and ticket agent, and his assistant, Edward A. Follweiler.
Keeping the two men covered with his revolver, the robber walked around the counter. He opened the safe, which was unlocked, and took about $25 in cash. He then made for the cash drawer, which he emptied into his pocket.

In less than ten minutes he was through with his work and ready to leave. He compelled the two clerks to stoop down behind the counter and put their hands in sight. He told them if they put up their heads he would blow their brains out.

After he was gone the police were called up on the telephone and the hold-up reported. No clue to the man has been found.

As soon as word of the robbery was received at the city hall Detective Alfred I. Souder was assigned to the case and he went at once to the scene. Every effort is being made to apprehend the man, who, it is said, is wanted in both Pittsburgh and Cleveland for robberies committed in an identical manner.

The vicinity of the robbery was no only full of passersby, but at least four policemen were within sight and easy speaking distance of the place. Almost directly in front of the office was a mounted policeman, and there were traffic squad men at both Broad and Walnut and at Broad and Chestnut streets.

60,000 STRIKERS PARADE

Garment Workers March and Sing Through New York Streets.

New York, Jan. 14.—Sixty thousand garment workers on strike in New York for increased pay and better working conditions, marched, singing through the factory district and disbanded at Union square for an open air mass meeting.

Of the marchers approximately 15,000 were women. Nineteen girls, just released from jail, where they were sentenced for interfering with strike breakers, led the line of march. They bore banners demanding the abolition of child labor. American flags were carried by hundreds of other strikers.

The Shirtwaist and Dressmakers union, which has in the city about 30,000 members, voted almost unanimously to join the strike. This will bring the total number on strike up to nearly 160,000.

$5,000,000,000 IS AT STAKE

Washington, Jan. 14.—Argument were begun in the supreme court in a case involving title to 200,000 acres of oil lands in southern California, estimated to be worth $500,000,000.

The conflict is between the Southern Pacific railroad, which claims title under a grant by congress, and the locators of mineral entries. Other cases will bring the total involved up to $5,000,000,000.

Ill, Man Kills Himself.

Wilmington, Del. Jan. 14.—Raymond Lindville, aged forty years, committed suicide at his boarding house by shooting himself through the mouth with a revolver. Prior to the act he wrote several letters, one to his sister, Sarah L. Lindville, at Stroudsburg, Pa., where she resides with her widowed blind mother. He gave illness as the cause of his act.

Aerial Parcels Post Started.

Boston, Jan. 14.—An aerial parcels post service between Boston and New York was undertaken when Harry M. Jones, a Providence, R. I. aviator, left Boston for Providence, the first scheduled stop. Jones carried twenty-five pounds of parcels post packages for Providence, New London, New Haven, Bridgeport and New York.

To Honor Gettysburg Heroes.

Washington, Jan. 14.—Senator O'Gorman introduced a bill to give medals to all surviving soldiers of the battle of Gettysburg.

LUMBER TO GO ON FREE LIST

Democrats Also Plan to Remove All Duties on Meats.

Washington, Jan. 14.—"Free lumber" as part of the Democratic tariff program at the coming extra session of congress seemed assured at the hearing before the committee on ways and means. The lumber schedule was closed so far as the hearings were concerned.

The colloquies between the Democratic members of the committee and the witnesses indicated the intention of a majority of the committee to put rough and dressed lumber, hewn and squared timber, shingles, laths and fence posts on the free list.

Representative Kitchin, Democrat, referred incidentally to meats, and Representative Longworth, Republican, asked: "Do you Democrats purpose to put meat on the free list?"
"Yes," replied Mr. Kitchin, "I'm going to vote for it."

Representative James, Democrat, in the cross-examination, referred to the "greater necessity for conserving the interests of the poor people than of conserving lumber."

BOY KILLS MOTHER

Youngster Shoots Parent When She Refuses Him Money For Candy.

Monaca, Pa., Jan. 14.—Because she refused to give him five cents for candy, Leroy Higgins, eleven years old, shot and killed his mother, Mrs. Mary Higgins, a widow, in the bedroom of their home in Monaca Heights.

After killing his mother and in order to make it appear, according to the authorities, that somebody else had fired the shot, the boy reloaded the gun, then went outside and fired through the walls of the house.

WAS KIDNAPED, SAYS FORAKER MAN

Row For Possession of Letters in Campaign Proba.

Washington, Jan. 14.—A tale of how copies of letters from John D. Archbold, of the Standard Oil company, to former Senator Foraker and other public men were taken from the Standard Oil office, 24 Broadway, New York, by W. W. Winkfield and Charles Stump, negro messengers employed by the company, was told to the senate investigating committee by Gilchrist Stewart, a negro law clerk.

Stewart said he was employed by Foraker to investigate whether certain alleged photographic copies of letters published were forgeries. Winkfield was found in Chicago, Stewart said, and told him how he and Stump took copies of letters from the Standard Oil files and disposed of them to a representative of William R. Hearst.

While in Chicago, Dec. 21, Stewart declared, he was kidnapped by "gangsters," taken to the office of a Chicago newspaper and robbed of a number of letters and papers, including two letters to him from Foraker.

The witness gave a circumstantial account of his effort to escape from the "gangsters," who had searched the house in which he was stopping and a hotel. The men who kidnapped him, he said, told him they were policemen, exhibited what purported to be warrants and attempted to make him believe the newspaper office was a police station.

Winkfield, now in Washington under subpoena, sent a certificate of illness, but probably will testify within a few days.

Annual Pre-Inventory Reduction and Rummage Sale

Instead of a three days sale as we have sometimes held at this season—we believe that it will be much more satisfactory to our customers in service, if we allow them to take more time to their purchases. We have, therefore, re-marked much of our Winter stock to quick closing prices. Cost not a consideration—Stock must be greatly reduced before inventory to make room as well as secure cash for our Spring stock soon to come in. This sale will continue while these bargain goods last—The early purchaser has best selection.

In addition to goods here advertised, there will be found Odds and Ends—that we have not space here to mention—of little lots at very low prices. Come and look the stock over.
